

STOP BULLYING BEFORE IT STARTS: GIVING KIDS A VOICE

A CARTOON NETWORK SURVEY OF 9- TO 11-YEAR-OLDS ABOUT KINDNESS AND CARING

Three out of four kids (77%) say they HAVE WITNESSED BULLYING, including 27% who say they've done so "many times."

64% of children report having TRIED TO HELP A KID WHO WAS BEING BULLIED, including 17% who say they've done so "many times."

74%

of kids say caring about others is "very important."

When asked what would help kids their age be kinder to one another, 70% said it would help if the ADULTS IN CHARGE OF OUR COUNTRY SET A BETTER EXAMPLE OF TREATING PEOPLE KINDLY.

85% of children say they have reached out to kids who were new to their school or neighborhood, including 35% who say they have done so "many times," such as making a point of talking to them, or asking them to sit or play with them.

ROLE MODELS ARE IMPORTANT.

Most 9- to 11-year-olds say that when it comes to learning how to treat people with kindness, they have good adult role models close to home, but not in our nation's leadership.

MAKING
CARING
COMMON
PROJECT

STOP BULLYING SPEAK UP
CN
CARTOON NETWORK

Working in consultation with the Making Caring Common project (MCC) at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

stopbullingspeakup.com

TM & © Cartoon Network.